Retirement Mistakes Singaporeans Make Before 40

A free guide by Leo Tan

INTRODUCTION

Most people in their 20s and 30s treat retirement as a someday problem.

By the time it becomes urgent, the easiest years to fix it are already gone.

MISTAKE 01

Treating CPF as the whole plan

CPF is a solid base, not a full retirement plan.

Between the Full Retirement Sum and rising costs of living, most people need savings outside CPF to maintain their lifestyle.

MISTAKE 02

Letting cash sit idle for a decade

Money in a savings account earning near-zero interest loses value to inflation every year. The gap between safe and growing is where shortfalls start.

MISTAKE 03

Buying insurance once and never checking it again

A policy bought at 25 rarely fits a life at 35.

Income, dependents and liabilities change —
and coverage needs to change with them.

MISTAKE 04

Putting every spare dollar into property

A home is not a retirement fund, and treating it as one is a common trap that leaves little room for anything else.

MISTAKE 05

Not knowing the actual number

Without a target, there is no way to know if current savings are on track or years behind.
